BUFFALO CAMP TO OPEN ON MONDAY

AL BAGGETT IS PLEASED WITH BUFF PROSPECT

Fifteen Letter Men Will Be Here Monday for Opening

32 SQUAD MEMBERS

First Game Soon After the Opening of Training Camp

Fifteen Buffalo letter men, together with 17 members of last year's squad are expected to meet Coach Al Baggett next Monday when the football training camp will open.

Coach Baggett is highly pleased over the prospects for the season as he has checked over the possible men who will answer his call for training. A large number of new men have been here during the past week seeking information regarding W. T. and from every indication the training camp will be one of the largest ever held in the College.

The new coach has a real problem on his hands whipping the squad into shape for the opening game of the season, which will be with Southwestern at Weatherford, Okla. The Southwestern team started training on Sept. 1st, but the Buffaloes were forced by the rules of Southwestern Conference not to open before the 10th of September.

Captain "Cow" Williams is working with Baggett in making preparation for the season's opening, and has been urging all of the men to be here for the training period. Williams is ready to resume his duties at fullback. In addition he will have the following teammates who were here last year:

Carroll Boyd, end, Childress.
Lawrence Brotherton, half, Turkey.
George Ray Colvin, half, Turkey.
Odus Cox, end, Pampa.
Alfred Duncan, half, Pampa.
Marcus Graham, tackle, Quitaque.
James Groom, tackle, Pampa.
L. G. Harris, guard, Summerfield.
Woodrow Hazlewood, end, Canyon.

Wheat Meetings Largely Attended

Meetings Scheduled For Balance of Week by Upchurch

Farmers in all sections of the county are showing great interest in the meetings which are in progress under the direction of County Agent W. H. Upchurch for the purpose of explaining the wheat allotment plan.

In the meetings so far held at Sunny Hill, Ralph, Jewell and Umparger, practically every wheat farmer in these communities have attended the sessions, and up to date more than half of those entitled to enter the wheat agreement have completed their applications. Others have expressed the desire to sign up, but information was lacking, and these applications will be ready during the coming week.

Mr. Upchurch states that more than 40 applications per day are being handled through his office. Meetings are being held according to the schedule announced last week.

Farmers in the Canyon territory will meet tonight at the court house with the following schedule for the other sections which were designated last week:

Community No. 6—Stone School, Friday, Sept. 8.
Community No. 7—Park School, Monday, Sept. 11.
Community No. 8—Trigg School, Tuesday, Sept. 12.
Community No. 9—Hyland School, Wednesday, Sept. 13.
The meetings will begin promptly at 8 p. m. at each of the places announced.

Prospects Good For Large College Fall Enrollment

A normal attendance is indicated at the West Texas State Teachers College for the fall semester which will open September 19. Cousins Hall, a dormitory for girls has more reservations than usual at this date. Randall Hall, co-operative home for girls, is also rapidly reaching capacity reservations. The College Farm which enables boys to work for part of their expenses is also full, and many boarding houses and apartments have been reserved by students who arrive at the opening of school. A split-semester plan has been devised to enable students to attend college on reduced budgets.

President J. A. Hill and Registrar D. A. Shirley are working daily during the vacation period to have everything in readiness for the opening date.

NRA Campaign Will Be Completed During Day

Expect 100% Sign Up in Canyon Is Report Yesterday

A final wind-up of the NRA campaign will be made in Canyon today, according to information made yesterday by Mayor C. H. Burrow and Fred E. Wortham, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

A survey of business houses was completed yesterday for the purpose of ascertaining how the code was working among the business houses of Canyon. It was found that practically all business men were observing the requirements of the blanket code until their vocational codes were adopted.

The survey for the homes of Canyon will be completed today, and it is hoped that 100% will be possible on the report which must be made to the national headquarters.

MANY CHANGES ABOUT SQUARE DURING WEEK

September Chosen Best Month for Changing Locations

7 MOVES MADE

Business Houses Ready to Put Pep in Prosperity

This month seems to be moving month in Canyon and a number of business houses have swapped and continued to swap their locations for ones which suit to a better advantage their particular lines of merchandising. In keeping with the spirit of the times, with the New Deal, and all that it stands for, Canyon business men are preparing themselves for the future and for a brighter era in the trade marts of the country, the state and the Panhandle.

To start the cavalcade, the Canyon Grocery moved to the Livingston building south of their former location on the east side of the square into the building formerly occupied by Mark Foster's Cafe and the County Relief organization. The grocery, which is owned by A. H. Hunt, has been a business firm in Canyon for several years and will continue, in their new location, the prices and service which has marked them in the past.

The "M" System changed owners and was moved from the northeast corner of the square to the building on the east side, formerly the home of the Canyon Grocery. R. J. Spencer, recently of Hereford, but manager of the "M" System for the past six months, and John Jacobson of Hereford, are the new owners. They will continue, says Mr. Spencer, to handle all nationally advertised products.

McCarty Brothers moved from their location adjoining the First National Bank into the building vacated by the "M" System and is having the house remodeled to suit their needs. Gordon McCarty, owner of the store, has been in the (Continued on last page)

Public Schools Open With Big Number

Opening of Fall Term on Monday Pleases the Patrons

The Canyon Public Schools opened for the 1933-34 term last Monday, September 4, with an average enrollment. All teachers were on hand and classes were started promptly at nine o'clock Monday morning. Enrollment had begun on Friday and Saturday of last week. Students were still coming in Wednesday morning.

The Public Schools officials do not expect a larger enrollment than last year inasmuch as the district lost some one hundred scholars during the past year.

Plans have been made to have a very profitable school year. An excellent faculty is on hand to lead the boys and girls, and the students seem glad to be in school again. One of the feature projects of the year as laid out at the first faculty meeting by Supt. Caruth is a very strong program of remedial work for every pupil. Each teacher will devote one full period each day besides the supervised study period, to helping students who are failing or who are near a failing mark in their work. Such a program has been stressed for the past few years but this year will see the idea carried to its maximum efficiency. As a result a very low percentage of failures is expected. Such individual attention and interest makes the school a human laboratory in which the individual problems of each boy and girl are found and solved as far as it is possible to do so.

The parents are asked to come to the school at any time to confer with teachers or administrative authorities about the difficulties of their children. It is only thru the closest co-operation that full justice can be given the child. The school should know the child's problems at home and the parents the problems in school. If the school and the parents can work in closer co-operation and with more interest much that has not been done can be accomplished during the coming school term.

E. E. Chamness arrived in the city yesterday from Austin to begin his work as deputy State Superintendent of Public Instruction. He will maintain his office at the College.

Urge That Play Night be Repeated in the Near Future

Several hundred people attended the play night Tuesday which was sponsored by the Canyon Rotary Club and held at Buffalo Park. For nearly two hours an interesting program was directed by Doug Shirley, Travis Shaw, Mrs. Travis Shaw and Miss Ruth Lowes. Participating were the boys and girls of Canyon, together with about fifty men who entered in the various contests.

The Kaffir Korn Band started the program, playing several numbers while the crowd gathered. The music put the crowd into the holiday spirit, which prevailed during the evening.

Trav Shaw supervised the bicycle races, including four heats; one for boys, one for girls, one for men, and the final handicap for the three winners in the boys and girls races.

12th Annual Meet of T-Anchor Cow Hands Held Thurs.

More than 200 pioneers gathered Thursday at the Wragge Park for the 12th annual round-up of the T-Anchor boys. A short program was held during the day, but most of the time was devoted to visiting and discussing the early periods of the Plains, especially as related to the T-Anchor ranch, which headquarters stood just north of the meeting grounds.

Early times on the Plains were recalled in various talks made, and by incidents related by the pioneers.

In the election of officers for the coming year, R. E. Baird of Canyon was re-elected vice president.

STATE STARTS ENGINEER ON PROJECT EAST

Commissioners Order 100 Foot Right-of-Way Yesterday

IS RELIEF PROJECT

Money for Highway Coming From Grant Federal Government

Following instructions from the State Highway Commission, a special session of the Commissioners Court was held yesterday afternoon for the purpose of widening the right-of-way from Canyon to the Palo Duro State Park. The Highway Commission asked for 100 feet which is the standard state highway requirement.

Nothing definite is known as to the steps which will be taken on this highway. Engineer E. H. Gohmert arrived Saturday upon receipt of instructions from his department to return to Canyon for further work. He did not know the object of the order until arriving.

J. W. Van Loon, district engineer, had received word from Austin to prepare the preliminary survey for a state highway without delay.

It is believed that the state will designate this project as a state highway at the next meeting, and will start work as quickly as possible.

The highway commission several months ago awarded about $30,000 to Randall county from the special relief fund for highway construction. Additional funds have been requested, hoping that sufficient money may be secured for a first class hard surfaced highway.

Rapid development may be expected on this project, since federal men were here Monday checking the unemployment situation in the county, and investigating the public work which may be contemplated.

Services For Mrs. Robertson on August 30th

Funeral services were conducted Thursday for Mrs. Emma Cobb Robertson, 86, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Emma Cavet at Tulsa, August 29. Interment was in the Amarillo cemetery.

Mrs. Robertson had lived in Canyon since 1900. She is survived by five children and fourteen grand children. Her children are: J. E. Phillips, Long Beach, Calif.; Mrs. Emma Cavet, Tulsa; Earl Cobb, Fort Smith, Ark.; Walter Cobb, Tulsa, and Nettie Cobb, Fort Worth.

Randall Hall Draws Many Girls for Fall

Co-Operative Plan Appeals to Many Students of Plains

"The co-operative plan which has been worked out for Randall Hall is going to bring many students to college this fall who would have no chance of coming on the usual plan," said President J. A. Hill, today.

The plan has been received with widespread approval from the first and at present there are reservations from twenty-eight different towns representing points as widely separated as Portales, New Mexico and Canadian, and Wheeler and Plains, and Haskell and Channing.

The girls who will live in Randall Hall have been carefully chosen from lists nominated by county and city superintendents, and only young women of excellent grades and superior character ratings have been selected. Among the girls is one who was valedictorian of her class, one who was salutatorian of her class, and another who has won a trip to the Dallas Fair through her excellent 4-H club work. Two others won first places in the State Home Economics contests at Mineral Wells last spring.

Not only are the girls pleased with a plan which will let them come to Canyon to college, but the parents have shown themselves highly appreciative of the chance to send their daughters to school in spite of the hard times. One South Plains man wrote, "I am hard hit as lots of others are, and have gone broke in the banking business after following it for 20 years straight. But such public business has proved to me that an education is very essential these days and becoming more so all the time."

From the North Plains came a letter which said "I think you (Continued on last page)

CLYDE W. WARWICK
Owner and PublisherSUBSCRIPTION $1.50 PER YEAR
(A special rate of $1.00 per year is effective to January 1, 1934.)

Entered at the postoffice at Canyon, Texas, as second class matter. Published weekly at office, 1513 Fourth Avenue, Canyon, Texas.

Only a few dripping wets whom we have met are elated over the prospects of defeating Senator Morris Sheppard next year. Sheppard is a staunch prohibitionist, and is not afraid to let the people know where and how he stands. He made a strenuous campaign in Texas for the retention of the 18th amendment. The demand for a change, regardless of the consequences, was too much. Liquor is in the saddle and the people believe they will improve themselves and the country by a glorious drunk. But the wets will have a hard time deciding upon a man to oust Sheppard. The sober ones realize it. Jim Ferguson would like the job, but he cannot be elected. Joe Bailey would also like the job, but he is a light weight. Other dripping wets would like a go at the job, and there will probably be a big field out for a chance at Sheppard. There will be plenty of politics for 1934.

The seriousness of the state bond issue is certainly being considered by members of the legislature who will meet next week. James E. Ferguson seems disposed to force the entire $20,000,000 bond issue at the present time, together with the sales tax. This plan will be stubbornly fought by those who do not wish to see an enormous debt saddled upon the people. It will be very difficult to safeguard the bond issue against mistakes. Therefore it would be the wise thing to issue only a small percent of the bonds at the present time, and watch the procedure of spending the money. It would be much less costly for the state to have three or four special sessions of the legislature to correct errors than it would be to turn all of the $20,000,000 loose at one time, trusting that it would be wisely administered.

Great interest is being taken by the farmers in the wheat meetings which are held over the county. It is hoped that the business men of Canyon will attend some of the wheat meetings in order that they may better understand the provisions which will be made. County Agent W. H. Upchurch is highly pleased with the attendance among the farmers of the county, and the interest which is being shown. If all who are eligible to participate in the wheat allotment plan will enter the agreement, it means that $290,000 in cash will be available for the farmers this fall. This is a very large sum of money to be turned loose in hard times like these.

If the railroads had taken the same attitude toward rates as they now take, the bus and truck business never would have stolen the business as they now have it.

CAUSE FOR CELEBRATION

Special rates are being made on the railroads which are much more advantageous to the public than are rates made by the busses and trucks. But unfortunately for the railroads, the lock was placed on the barn after the horse was stolen. Railroad traffic is picking up in spite of the adverse opinions created by past policies of the operators, and may in the end be largely recovered so far as long hauls are concerned.

The splendid rains of the past two weeks will make a lot of feed in Randall county. Many farmers state that if there is not too early frost that even their grain yield may be normal. It so happened this year that much of the late planted grain will be better in yield than the early planted crops. The pastures, which were bare three weeks ago, have become green and cattle are getting fat. Maybe this winter will not be so hard in the Panhandle as we have been expecting.

It is pretty well defined now that the legislature will not fool with the delinquent tax situation in Texas for some time to come. Millions of dollars are due in delinquent taxes, much of which could be collected if authorities will push the matter. It is unfair to those who pay their taxes to allow thousands of citizens to go without making payments.

When a man sets out to make a fool of himself, he generally receives all the assistance he needs from the grandstand.

Brunettes are preferred in the movies, it is said, but their opposites may reply, "Gentlemen prefer blonds."

May Get Death Sentence

The threat of the gallows faces Harvey J. Bailey, shown above after his recent capture at Paradise, Tex. Bailey, a leader in the Memorial Day prison break from the Kansas penitentiary, is accused of the kidnapping of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City oil millionaire, and the murder of Federal Agent Raymond J. Caffrey, one of the four officers slain with convict Frank Nash in Kansas City June 17.

THE GREAT AMERICAN HOME

NRA PROGRAM IN PROGRESS

Courtesy Washington Daily News

"Push-On" Drive For Blue Eagle National Scope

With the Blue Eagle drive daily gaining momentum in every part of the country, there is mounting evidence that the nation will soon be enlisted 100 percent behind this new American bird. Reports reaching Canyon from Washington today gave a stirring picture of the campaign for re-employment that is unique in the annals of this or any other country. According to these reports approximately 6,000 communities are now organized with a militant crew of volunteer workers who are going the limit of their ability to make possible the objectives of President Roosevelt and National Recovery Administrator Johnson which is 5,000,000 more men and women on the payrolls of the nation by Labor Day. And to this volunteer army, thousands of recruits are being added daily as new communities by the hundreds take up the work.

One of the marvels of the campaign, so it is pointed out, is the sheer speed with which these mighty strides have been attained. It is literally a matter of days since the Blue Eagle first was thrust across the American horizon. Less than 30 days ago, General Johnson sent out a message to the heads of commercial organizations in all parts of the country asking them to take the initiative in forming Blue Eagle organizations in their respective communities. This was the beginning of the campaign. In less than 24 hours thereafter wires, phone calls, and letters began a bombardment that has never ceased. It has been a bombardment of enlistment. Thru all the thousands of messages that have been pouring into Washington, this has been the theme of all: "We're ready to go. Tell us what to do."

It is not going too far to say that all America has enlisted behind the Blue Eagle. For example, every motion picture theatre in America is this week showing a "trailer" to the news reels. It starts off with a vigorous Uncle Sam pointing an uncompromising index finger at the audience with the words, "Uncle Sam Wants You." And then the whole picture is of a nature calculated to stir the audience to the heights of patriotic ardor. Then there are countless movie-tones, and next week will see the beginning of a series of NRA dramas which all the big stars in Hollywood will take part. Never before in the history of the silver screen has there been such a solidarity of endeavor to bring success to a cause. The radio, too, has surrendered quite as completely to the Blue Eagle. It is not easy to tune in anywhere today and not hear some message of exhortation in behalf of the bird that has been stamped on a nation's consciousness as the insignia of happy days. Great programs on the air are soon to come. Such nation wide favorites as Al Smith and Will Rogers take to the "micro" in behalf of the great drive against unemployment. Mine. Schumann.

Heink who sang so effectively during the war was enlisted again, and George M. Cohan has written a martial air that will be the peace-time counter part of his immortal "Over There." Countless other radio and theatrical stars have joined up with the great movement. Of course, the newspapers have fallen in line just as they did with such patriotic loyalty in the days of 1917 and 1918. And everywhere in theatres and at all public gatherings speeches are being given by NRA "Minute Men."

In the NRA offices in Washington, executives for days have been literally swamped with correspondence, thus showing the tremendous public reaction. It has not been possible even for the great facilities of the U. S. Government to deliver consumer's cards, stickers, Blue Eagle insignia and other supplies and paraphernalia as rapidly as the public has demanded them. Recently a fleet of 24 airplanes sailed from New York to the North. West and South loaded to capacity with campaign supplies but still the demand was unsatisfied. However, officials in Washington promise that all demands will be met and that if organizations will exercise just a little patience all the required literature and insignia will reach them before the culminating week of effort which will begin next Monday.

The task so far has been to shape up the local organizations. By next Monday it is expected that Captain George R. Pond, left, one of the world's foremost pilots, and Cesare Sabelli, right, noted Italian flyer, are grooming their trim Bellanca monoplane in preparation for a non-stop flight from the United States to Rome—a venture which has already cost the lives of 13 persons. If they negotiate the 4600-mile trip to Rome successfully, and enough gas left in the plane, they intend to continue on to Bagdad to break the 5570-mile distance record made recently by the Frenchmen, Rossi and Codos.

Prepare for Hop to Rome

all this will have been completed and then the army will be ready to march.

And the army, according to Washington advices, will be kept on the march until all America yields to the Blue Eagle. Which is just another way of saying—until the back of the depression has been broken.

PROMPT ACTION CHECKED BAKERS

When the bakers of his native State of Iowa announced their intention to increase the price of a pound loaf of bread from five to eight cents because of the increase in the price of wheat and the forth coming imposition of the adjustment tax on that commodity, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace served notice that "the anti-trust laws are still in effect."

In a hearing before a Senate committee a few years ago, the millers and bakers testified that the price of wheat was not the controlling factor in the cost of bread. That was when the price of wheat was going down, while the price of bread remained stationary. Now that wheat is advancing in price, the bakers seem to view the case differently.

There was one place where baggy-riding had it on the auto-riding. If you had to walk home there wasn't so much territory to cover.

That bursting gas bomb on Wall Street was mild to the bubbles that have burst there in the past.

Topsy-Turvy Flying Ace

Flying upside-down for two hours and 20 minutes, Milo G. Burcham, above, Los Angeles airman, set a new record for inverted flying twice in two weeks. His first feat, a flight upside-down from San Diego to Los Angeles, was bettered almost immediately afterward by Lieut. Tito Falconi, Italian Air Force flyer.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

It's Tough Year for Champs—So Martin Opines Washington Will Cop the American League Banner This Year

BY PHILIP MARTIN

WASHINGTON will win the American League flag this year—because it's a bad year for champions.

Fred Perry, of England, or Jack Crawford, of Australia, will lift the men's tennis singles crown from the brow of Ellsworth Vines this year—because it's a bad year for champions.

Ross Somerville will lose his honors as national amateur golf champion in September—because it's a bad year for champions.

Someone will dethrone Southern California as football monarch—because it's a bad year for champions.

THE printers must have jumbled the signs on the zodiac this year because the gents who've worn the crowns of the sports world have had one of their toughest years since the depression played the dickens with gate receipts. No matter what sign they were born under, or what influence the stars had over their careers, they took a licking in their respective sports and found themselves just ordinary citizens.

In the fight game a bunch of champions lost their laurels. Foremost, of course, among these sportsmen was Jack Sharkey, who lost his somewhat disputed heavy-weight title to Primo Carnera.

Then there were Ben Jeby, who lost his New York Boxing Commission middleweight title to Lou Brouillard; Jackie Fields, who lost his welter crown to Young Corbett who, in turn, lost to Jimmy McLarnin; and Tony Canzoneri, who gave up his lightweight belt to Barney Ross, young Chicago scrapper.

In tennis, Vines was brought tumbling from his pinnacle of fame by Fred Perry in England both in the Wimbledon matches and in Davis Cup play. Helen Jacobs, California girl who held the championship of the United States last year, lost her Seabright singles title to young Sarah Palfrey, Boston player.

In baseball the big flop among

Two sport celebrities who can't thank their lucky stars this year are Helen Jacobs and Dale Alexander, shown above. Alexander, first sacker for the Boston Red Sox and 1932's leading American League hitter, is in the doldrums this year. And Helen lost her Seabright singles title to Sarah Palfrey.

the champions was that of huge Dale Alexander, leading slugger of the American League in 1932. The large, portly first-sacker of the Boston Red Sox slumped so in hitting this year that he has been off active duty for some time.

WITH so many champions dropping from their dizzy heights, it's safe to forecast that the Senators will win the American League bunting. New York, last year's winner and world series champ, has slumped along with the rest of the rulers. Aging players and failure of the Bambino to blast his usual quota of circuit clouts has caused the downfall of the once powerful Yanks.

And it also seems safe to forecast, if the Senators defeat the Yanks for the American League honors, they'll do the same to the winners of the National League flag—New York, Pittsburgh or Chicago—in this year's world series.

A lot of astronomical calculations will have to be raised, according to one scientist, because a star the boys figured on, millions of miles away, turned out to be only one-third as bright as they reported. Oh, well, what difference does that make on a cloudy night?

People and Lighting

Why is it that good lighting draws people as tho by magic? There are numerous reasons given for this well known peculiarity . . . it may be that people do not like darkness . . . that light has some definite but unexplainable charm. But it is true.

Aggressive merchants have known this fact for years and have brightened up their show windows. They know it draws people to their store front,—and they know it pays.

They will provide good lighting in their store interiors as well. It draws customers into the store. They know that good interior lighting also pays.

With prosperity again on the way merchants should realize the benefits to be had from proper window and store interior illumination.

Periods of Life Discussed Tuesday by Rev. J. H. Hicks

The three periods of life were discussed Tuesday at the Rotary Club luncheon by Rev. J. H. Hicks, in which he sought to find the most interesting period. The three periods are: Childhood; the Golden Age; Old Age. It is always interesting to know which appeals the most to people.

"Much money is spent on children, and their development, but not too much money," stated the speaker.

"It is amazing to watch how people are swayed during the golden age," stated Rev. Hicks. He called attention to the recent election as how people had reversed their previous position.

In speaking of old age, Mr. Hicks believed it to be the best period. It is the harvest time of life. It should be the happiest period of life. The world does not show proper appreciation of old age.

Lee Johnson was in charge of the program, introducing the speaker.

Visitors present Tuesday were R. N. Hunsley, F. A. Zimpher, C. L. Munday, N. C. Sanford, Kile Payson and Dr. B. E. Masters of Amarillo; Travis Shaw and Al Baggett of Canyon.

C. C. C. Workers Ask President for Increase in Pay

An increase in pay owing to the increased cost of living has been asked by C. C. C. men at the Palo Duro State Park. A petition has been directed to President Roosevelt, Vice President Garner, senators and representatives.

Announcement has been received that all enlistments will terminate on October first in C. C. C. work, and that the men will be given an opportunity of re-enlisting. This plan has been adopted over the nation in order to make all enlistments terminate on the same date. It also assures men that they will be carried through the winter if they care to re-enlist for the coming six months period.

Detailed information has been compiled by the Canyon Chamber of Commerce as to working conditions during the winter in order to assure that more men will be moved to the Palo Duro State Park for the winter months.

The following is the petition: "Whereas: There has been a sharp advance in the prices of necessities, making it difficult and almost impossible for our families to live on the amounts allowed them, and

"Whereas: It is the purpose and intention of the President to stimulate business and restore the greatest measure of prosperity in the quickest time, we, representing 600 world war veterans enrolled in the civilian conservation corps and stationed at Palo Duro, Canyon, Texas.

"Resolved: That it is vital to the welfare of our families that steps be taken at once to pay us an additional amount sufficient to meet the rise in prices, and it is further

"Resolved: That unless action is taken promptly, our families will suffer, entirely contrary to the purposes of the emergency conservation work program, and we respectfully petition those to whom this resolution is sent that they endeavor, without delay and to the best of their ability, to increase or advocate the increase of our pay in proportion to the prices of the times, and it is further

"Resolved: That this petition demands immediate action because of the fact that nearly all of our members are married, many with large families, the sole mainstay and support of these families, and that our position is different from other C. C. C. companies for the reason that those depending on us must be helped by us and the only way we know to obtain the help they need is through an orderly, respectfully submitted resolution, asking the aid and assistance we greatly need and must have else actual suffering and hardship will result.

"And Be It Further Resolved: That copies of this resolution be sent to the President, Vice President, our senator and congressmen and to the leading newspapers of the nation."

College Nurse Kept Very Busy Past 11 Months

Being a college nurse is a strenuous life for Miss Helen Hickman, institutional nurse at the West Texas State Teachers College, for during eleven months of the year just closed she had 1321 patients, and 2131 treatments and conferences.

The general health situation of the students was good, but there were 119 who sought aid because of severe colds, and another 114 had more or less serious sore throats.

Wounds and sprains were common enough for 116 boys and girls applied for help because of sprained ankles, wrists, backs, and fingers and cuts, scratches and burns. None of these, according to the nurse, came from affrays but were the results of laboratory, playground and other activities, including work.

Twenty-five students burned themselves severely enough to need attention of the nurse.

Students want to be healthy. Miss Hickman says, and during one session 333 different students came to consult her about their own health problems, most of them wanting to know how to establish excellent health habits and build strong constitutions for the future.

There was only one communicable disease among the college students last year, and that was a single case of diphtheria. Only 13 boys and 19 girls were bed patients in the infirmary.

The nurse is employed as a part of the college health service and a small fee is paid by students to provide them this help. The nurse works with the deans of men and women, with the departments of physical education, and spends many hours each day with students. She also teaches a class in Health Education and Sanitation, open to both men and women students.

The College nurse will be on hand the first day of school, September 19 and will be available to sick or homesick or troubled students every day during the year.

Buying Power of Wheat

Articles Farmers Buy

Cost in Terms of Wheat
(Each sack holds 3 bushels)

GIVING wheat the same buying power that it had in the period before the World War is the goal of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. This chart shows how big the problem is. In 1914 8 sacks of wheat would buy a pair of shoes, a barrel of flour, a chair, and a plow.

In 1925 it took 9 sacks of wheat to buy the same set of articles. In 1930 it took 19 sacks of wheat and early in 1933 it took 22 sacks of wheat. The cause of the low buying power is too great a supply. To remedy the situation, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration has begun a campaign asking farmers to reduce their acreage for the 1934 and 1935 crops so that the return from a bushel of wheat will be once more what it was in the pre-war period, in its power to buy the goods which farmers need. The goal of the wheat administration is the 1914 basis, on which 8 sacks of wheat would buy the bill of goods pictured here.

Is the order of the day—canning meats, vegetables and fruits. Gardens are fine. Fruits are cheap. Almost everything in the way of food can be canned and put back for winter use to help supply the family with the very best of food at a very low cost.

There is nothing better than home canned peas, beans, corn, pickles, greens, beef, chicken and fruits of all kinds.

We have a complete stock of Pressure Cookers, canners, sealers, fruit cans, jars and lids—in fact everything that it takes for canning. All surplus food will be needed next winter. Let us do what we can to save it all.

Ping-Pong Goes Over Big

The game these nymphs are playing furiously should be called "giant" ping-pong or "tennis" ping-pong or something like that. The ball, paddles and net are many times the size of those used in the standard game. And while this game has its hazards, such as splinters in the feet, these Venice, Calif., bathing girls seem to enjoy it.

Machado's Overthrow in Cuba Climaxes Nine Years of Political Turmoil

THE flight of President Gerardo Machado from the republic over which he had ruled since 1925 climaxed nearly nine years of political turmoil, depression and economic distress which prevailed in Cuba during his administration.

During that troublesome period, labor difficulties, student revolt, armed uprisings and governmental steps to repress these insurrections, occurred frequently. Street fighting, assassination, bomb throwing and other forms of violence were commonplace.

It was unfortunate for the president that his inauguration in 1925 took place during the beginning of Cuba's economic crisis. His first achievement in office was auspicious. A vast public-works program, including the building of a $100,000,000 central highway connecting Havana with all parts of Cuba, and a $20,000,000 National Capitol in Havana, provided jobs for many unemployed. But this program necessitated large loans from the United States. At the same time the national income from sugar declined year by year. Heavy taxation reduced Cuban business to a minimum and much of the population to a state of semi-starvation.

In 1927, President Machado showed contracts, jobs and "collectorships" in the national lottery on outstanding Cuban politicians to cement his control of his own Liberal party and also to gain control of the opposing Conservative and Popular parties.

With the support of the three parties Machado succeeded in having changes made in the electoral code and the Constitution amended. This action resulted in his unopposed re-election in 1928 for a second term, which was extended from four to six years. This put control of existing parties in the hands of his supporters and prevented the organization of new parties.

University of Havana students began the revolt, to end the evils of political control of their college. In 1927 they went on strike, remaining away from classes for four months. During the next three years, opposition to Machado grew rapidly. And during this time, Machado alternately tried to conciliate his foes, and, by force, to repress them.

IN 1930 two facts speeded the growth of the movement against Machado. One was the increase of the United States tariff on Cuban sugar to two cents a pound. The other was the stopping of American loans which had financed the Cuban public works program. Depression in the United States made both measures necessary.

Conditions in Cuba became deplorable. To compete with United States sugar, Cuban sugar was sold at prices which realized less than the cost of production to the sugar planter The abandonment of public works construction threw thousands of Cuban laborers out of work, making the unemployment problem acute. Discontent with the Machado administration spread rapidly throughout all classes.

With his well-drilled army of 12,000 men, President Machado easily put down an armed revolution in August, 1931. Shortly after the president announced his intention of remaining in office until the end of his second term in May, 1935, and of continuing martial law and the suspension of constitutional guarantees.

Then began terrorism — the bloody warfare between Machado's strong-armed secret police or "porra," on one side and the students and the A. B. C. on the other. The A. B. C. secret society was composed of young professional men, mostly graduates of the University

Lou Gehrig Has Outshone the Great Scott and Is Setting a Consecutive Game Mark That Bids Fair to Stand for Years

BY PHILIP MARTIN

A SPORTS record that seems destined to stand for some years has been established by Lou Gehrig, the big, rangy first-sacker of the Yankees. That record was a new consecutive game mark.

Lou, in putting his name on the record books, broke a mark of 1307 consecutive games established by Little Everett Scott, the shortstop of the Red Sox and the Yanks from 1916 to 1922.

The belting first baseman of the Yanks has done something else besides establish a new playing record: he has proved to be the second most valuable player Col. Jake Ruppert ever had—the first is Babe Ruth.

In all the years Lou has been playing for the Yankee owner, he has won his share of ball games, and has been packing them into the stands with his circuit-clout-ing reputation.

When and if Ruth ever retires, it's possible that Lou will become the greatest gate attraction in the game.

ONE of the big upsets in this year's topsy-turvy world of sports came when Francis X. Shields defeated Ellsworth Vines, No. 1 ranking tennis player of the United States, in straight sets at Newport Casino.

Shields, a great player in 1931, had a reversal of form last year, and his showing in European matches prior to Wimbledon and Davis Cup play this year was mediocre. But the big boy came back to the United States, gave up his play-boy attitude toward the game, and his resulting brand of play bids fair to carry him to the men's national singles title at Forest Hills, Sept. 2. With that title under his belt Shields will have a string on the No. 1 ranking this year.

TOMMY HITCHCOCK'S crown as the foremost polo player in the world is in danger. The would-be usurper is Cecil Smith, the rough-riding cowhand from the plains of Texas.

Smith and three other westerners played a team from the east, headed by Hitchcock, at Chicago recently, and all Smith did was to play rings around the former master of the game. Now there's talk of dropping Hitchcock from the ranking as the only 10-goal handicap player in the world and elevating Smith to that throne.

Lou Gehrig, above left, is smiling over the fact that he has broken the consecutive game mark set in 1922 by Everett Scott. Two big 1933 sport upsets occurred when Francis X. Shields, right, defeated Ellsworth Vines, No. 1 ranking tennis player of the United States; and Cecil Smith, bottom left, carried his western polo team to victory over the eastern team captained by Tommy Hitchcock.

ANOTHER ruler who might fall before long is young Barney Ross, the good little Chicago kid who lifted Tony Canzoneri's lightweight title from his brow.

Ross won from Canzoneri and proved himself to be the former champ's superior—in that one fight. But it is dear old Philip's opinion that Canzoneri, now that he's faced with the fact that the title he held so long is gone, will quit fooling and come back for the greatest fight in his career when the two meet Sept. 12.

For the past couple of years, Tony has been the fightingest champ in the ring. And it's our belief he'll still be that after Sept. 12.

Oklahoma's Elusive "Phantom Bandit" Sought in U. S. Crime Drive

AN important quarry in the government's drive against the underworld is the Oklahoma "phantom bandit," 29-year-old Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd, perpetrator of a long series of killings and daring bank robberies.

Crowning a decade-long record of crime, "Pretty Boy's" name has appeared again in connection with the recent Kansas City machine gun massacre of a convict and four law officers, and the kidnapping of John (Jake, the Barber) Factor in Chicago.

In Oklahoma—a state once terrorized repeatedly by the forays of those notorious outlaws, Al Jennings, Henry Starr, Matt Kimes and Ray Terrill—Charles Floyd, perhaps even more murderous, shrewd and daring than his predecessors, has held sway. But his field of action has not been confined to his home state, Kansas, Kentucky, Ohio and others have suffered his unwelcome visits.

Around Sallisaw, Okla., where Floyd was reared, he is known as a local boy who went bad in a big way. He embarked on his criminal career at 18, when he robbed a post-office of $350 in pennies. At the time, his family—respectable people—believed he was working in the wheat fields.

Not long after he was arrested for a St. Louis payroll robbery and sentenced to five years in jail. He returned home four years later to learn that a Jim Mills had killed his father in a feud. Floyd swore vengeance. Whether he "got even" or not has never been known, but Mills disappeared shortly afterward.

It was in 1930 that "Pretty Boy" launched into crime on a big scale. He was arrested, with Bert Walker, for the slaying of Harland F. Manes, Akron, O., policeman. Walker died in the electric chair; lack of evidence freed Floyd. Shortly afterward, Floyd was given 15 years in prison for robbing a Sylva, O., bank. On the train bound for the penitentiary, Floyd escaped from his guards by diving through the train window.

In July, 1930, Floyd shot and killed Curtis C. Burks, federal dry agent, in a Kansas City speakeasy, where he was trapped by the agent. He also slew a negro employee at the same time. A year later, to pay them for "squealing" on him, "Pretty Boy" took William and Wallace Ash, brothers and Kansas City police reformers, for a "ride."

Eager for the $6000 reward offered for the capture of Floyd, dead or alive, a former sheriff, E. A. Kelly, laid in wait with deputies near an Oklahoma farmhouse where it was rumored the baby-faced killer was about to visit his wife and son. "Pretty Boy" drove up and Kelly, disdaining caution, rose to halt him. Floyd's gun spat fire, and Kelly fell dead. Floyd escaped.

Some of the colorful incidents in the life of crime of Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd, center, Oklahoma's super-bandit, are pictured above. (1) Given 15 years in prison for robbing an Ohio bank, Floyd escaped by diving through a window of the train carrying him to the penitentiary. (2) Floyd secured revenge on the Ash brothers for "squealing" by taking them for a "ride." (3) Former Sheriff E. A. Kelly, waiting to trap Floyd near an Oklahoma farmhouse, was shot to death by the outlaw. (4) Floyd is suspected of leading the recent massacre of four officers and a convict in Kansas City.

THE name, "phantom bandit," was given Floyd because of his habit of disappearing suddenly and, just as suddenly, appearing in a place far remote from the scene of his previous crime. Thus, after a series of midwestern bank robberies, a Reenslaer, N. Y., bank was held up. Witnesses testified that the Oklahoma outlaw led the raid.

Floyd's supreme contempt for the law has been exemplified many times. One such incident, of course, was the shooting of Sheriff Kelly.

Another was the kidnapping of Jack Killingsworth, a Missouri officer, in June of this year. But for sheer audacity, nothing compares with Floyd's bold raid on his home-town bank at Sallisaw, Okla., where he joked with former acquaintances while the robbery went on.

Federal authorities hope soon to put "Pretty Boy" behind the bars. Whether they will be successful in taking him alive is doubtful, since the notorious bandit has often stated he will never surrender. The 15-year sentence still hanging over his head in Ohio is the reason.

Sometime ago he told a friend: "I will never be taken alive if I can help it; I would rather be killed than serve one year in prison."

Boles Singers To Be Here On September 12th

On Tuesday, September 12 at 8:00 p. m. a group of singers, consisting of twenty boys and girls, from the Boles Orphan Home of Greenville, Texas, will sing at the Church of Christ in Canyon. These singers have toured the states of Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas during the past three summers, singing in churches and over radios throughout these states. They will have a program that is worth while and there will be no admission charges. The program will consist of solos, duets, quartets and a chorus. These students of the Boles Home have been trained by competent singers of the state.

The Boles Orphan Home is an orphan home stressing spiritual development. Though this home is supported and maintained by contributions from the Churches of Christ it has no restrictions as to what church an orphan boy or girl is a member. This home is at the present caring for nearly two hundred orphans from over the United States and one rarely finds a group of young men and women who are better trained than this group of orphans.

They will be accompanied by the well known singer C. T. McCormick of Dallas. From here the singers will go to the Central Church of Christ in Amarillo where they will render a program on Wednesday evening, Sept. 13th.

Play Nite

Albert Terry, which consisted of a three-legged race, fat man's race, sack race, and wheel-barrow race.
J. B. Fowler, Bill Smith and Irby Carruth put on a skit of the street corner medicine show variety, which created much amusement and ended in a mad chase across the athletic field as Shorty McCormick appeared on the scene charging the trio with evading the law.

Then came the soft ball game between the members of the Rotary Club, captained by J. H. Cox, Jr., and a town team, directed by Hud Prichard. The town team proved too much for the Rotarians, by a score of 4 to 0. Rotarians claimed that a mess was made of things by their captain in pulling such stars as Joe Hill, Oscar Gano, Albert Terry and Pinky Hand, just when scores were needed, in spite of their ability to fan out every time at bat. It was a most disastrous evening for the Rotarian team against old time ball players like Prichard, Reeves, Jeff Wallace, Bill and Joe Black, the Key boys, Hix, Dr. Neblett and Lee Foster.

While the ball game was in session, the children were being entertained at various games by Mrs. Shaw and Miss Lowes.

Owing to the lengthy program, not many remained to play the old time games which had been planned.

Coach Al Baggett was introduced to the crowd, and told of his plans for the opening of training camp next Monday and the prospects for the football season.

Play night was pronounced a very great success, and will be repeated in the near future.

ATTEND MEETING OF JUDGES AND COMMISSIONERS

Judge S. B. Orton, Commissioners W. E. Bennett and J. B. Heath attended the meeting of West Texas County Judges and Commissioners held in Lubbock Friday and Saturday.

Study of county finances was the interesting feature of the session. Randall county officials were highly pleased with the finances of the county when they heard reports of the huge debts which existed in other counties in this section.

TRI-STATE FAIR OPENS SEPTEMBER 23RD

Bill C. Beechler, publicity agent for the Tri-State Fair visited Canyon on Tuesday. Mr. Beechler is on a tour of the Tri-State Fair territory, which will take him into 107 towns and cities in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

The publicity car carries thousands of catalogs, premium lists, hand bills, windshield stickers, window cards, race programs, and lithographed posters.

In addition to distributing the above mentioned literature Mr. Beechler is contacting the heads of all Chambers of Commerce taking reservations for automobile caravans, and bands, and any other special musical talent that they might desire to put on the air over both broadcasting stations in Amarillo.

Mr. Beechler is very optimistic and does not hesitate to say frankly that all visitors to the Tri-State Fair this year will be agreeably surprised.

The officials of the Tri-State

Fair Association will throw open the gates of the Tri-State Fair, September 23rd, and keep them open for eight days, including Saturday, September 30th.

Visitors to the fair this year will become familiar with what the words, "New Deal" mean.

The grounds, with larger parking facilities, new entrance, thousands of yards of gravel and caliche forming a network of sidewalks and thoroughfares; new show arena; new boy and girl scout building; hundreds of new race horse stables; re-conditioned race track; the largest and most elaborate agricultural exhibits; displays in the Merchants' building of the "New Deal" type; live stock barns full of the world's finest-bred hogs, dairy cattle and horses; Mr. Beechler is very optimistic and does not hesitate to say frankly that all visitors to the Tri-State Fair this year will be agreeably surprised.

domestic science; literary; pet stock; poultry; the greatest exhibit of rabbits ever shown, and an old settlers day long to be remembered.

In front of the grand stand every afternoon, six big running races—a $500.00 purse every day. Imagine the thrill when you hear them say, "They're Off!" Two big championship boxing matches, supported by up-to-date preliminaries, affording 2½ hours of the fastest stepping sport of modern times, and two nights of fine horse showing in front of the grand stand sponsored by the Panhandle Fine Horse Association. And then to the Mid-Way! C. F. Zeiger United Shows—250 people, 15 railroad cars, 25 stellar attractions, 12 thrilling rides that thrill—the Tri-State Fair Limited—the smallest passenger-carrying steam locomotive in the world—to say nothing of the Punch and Judy Shows and the many other attractions to be found on the grounds.

Randall Hall

have worked out a wonderful plan which will no doubt benefit many girls who would not otherwise be able to attend school.

A county librarian wrote to President Hill that conditions are very hard in her county and in the letter remarked "It does seem that the college is doing its part to help young people these strenuous times and we hope that we may be able to do ours." From a prominent club woman of the region came a letter which commended the college highly for its efforts to help boys and girls who need to be in college this year. She wrote "West Texas State Teachers College is extending a fine service in helping to alleviate the problems of this period through which we are passing."

Most of the girls who will stay in Randall Hall are in the habit of spending less than three dollars per month for things besides food and clothing. Most of them know how to do one or more of the essential duties connected with running a home; some can cook, others prefer sweeping, others washing dishes. From the information furnished in the letters it looks as if Miss Miltia Hill, who will be in charge of the home will not have any trouble in making a schedule of work. Each girl will keep her own room, and each will do her share of the general house-keeping. Many of the girls are planning to pay as much as $5.00 of their monthly board and room bill in produce which they will bring with them or have sent from home.

It is hoped that there will be a similar home for boys before the year is over. It has been pointed out that the facilities will not decrease the number of boys and girls who will live in Cousins Hall and in private boarding houses, but will add just that many more to the college attendance for the year.

Miss Josie Wiggins has been elected to a position in the Hitchland school. She began her work today.

Classified rates are two cents per word for the first insertion, and one cent per word for each subsequent insertion. This rate applies to all legal notices. All classified advertisements must be paid in advance unless arrangements are made in person to care for the payment of them. Classified ads received through the mail will not be published unless accompanied by the cost of insertion. Word ads intelligently—do not try to save a few cents by leaving out necessary words; tell who, what, where, and, if essential, when and why.
